PRESS RELEASE

On Tuesday November 25th the American label Scarcelight Recordings releases the EP "Klonten" by the Dutch electronic duo Living Ornaments. "Klonten" is the second EP by Living Ornaments. Their first EP "Ribbels" was released in May this year on the Dutch Narrominded label as the first installment of a series of split lp's. Living Ornaments are Lars Meijer and Coen Polack, also the driving forces behind the Narrominded label.

Scarcelight Recordings

Scarcelight Recordings is the label of Chris Jeely, better known by the name of Accelera Deck. Besides releasing his own music, Jeely also puts out music from kindred spirits in the format of 3" cd's. After a successful collaboration with Narrominded, Jeely asked Living Ornaments to contribute.

Klonten

Chris Jeely describes "Klonten" on his website Scarcelight.com as follows: "Dutch duo of Coen and Lars follow up their critically acclaimed "Ribbels" 12" with 20 minutes of post drum and bass reflections. Fragmented piano figures, acoustic guitar and a swingtime marching band all poke their heads up, while a keen pop sensibility holds it all together. This is rural electronics for the romantic soul. Absolutely tuned in!"

Living Ornaments

The first results of the collaboration between Meijer and Polack can be heard on the compilation "We're Running out of West", released last year on Narrominded. After this followed the debut EP "Ribbels", which got critical acclaim in media all over the world.

Living Ornaments take pleasure in using tasteful but obscure Dutch words as track titles. This time they chose to use the names of long forgotten Dutch celebrities.

Living Ornaments can be seen live in Groningen (Netherlands) on December 12th and in Haarlem (Netherlands) on January 18th together with the American group Sonic Boom's Experimental Audio Research.

Narrominded

A lot of things are about to happen with the Narrominded label. In the near future the second edition of the split lp series will be released, featuring wonderful music by Hydrus and Kettel. Both of them will play on the upcoming)TOON) festival in Haarlem. Concluding, Narrominded is preparing gigs for their artists in the Netherlands and hopefully abroad.
